

T O R B R E C K

BAROSSA VALLEY

The Laird 2010

95 Points

Youthful, deep red colour, still with good purple tints; it smells very oaky indeed and somewhat like an oaky old brandy. The palate shows better balance in this regard: it's concentrated, powerful, profound, with coffee grounds, mocha and slightly porty flavours. Very big, with some alcohol after-heat, but it's still young and needs ages.

An impressive, immense wine. (3 years in 100% new Dominique Laurent Burgundy barrels, then 2 years in bottle before release)

Huon Hooke : HuonHooke.com

Tasted : APR15

Alcohol : 15.50%

Price : $750

Closure : Cork

Drink : 2020 to 2050

